About Ca' Foscari University

Ca' Foscari University of Venice was founded the 6th August 1868 as a Royal School of Commerce, by a group of brilliant intellectuals: Luigi Luzzatti, a law teacher and former minister; Edoardo Deodati, vice-president of the Province of Venice and Francesco Ferrara, the headteacher of the school for its first 32 years. The institute was the first business school in Italy: its main aim was both to train tradesmen and to prepare the future teachers of economics. Moreover, since the foundation, students were also required to study languages, both Western (French, English, German, Spanish, modern Greek) and Eastern (Arabic, Turkish, Serbo-Croat, Japanese).

In 1935 Ca' Foscari became a governmental University institution and founded the Faculty of Economics and Business (later renamed the Faculty of Economics in 1994).

In 1968, Ca' Foscari became a fully-fledged University with the founding of the first Faculty of Foreign Languages in Italy. In 1969 the Faculty of Humanities was founded and finally, in 1970, the Faculty of Chemistry was added, later renamed Faculty of Sciences.

Today Ca' Foscari University has about 20.000 students and 4.000 graduates every year. It covers 4 scientific and cultural areas - Foreign Languages and Literatures, Humanities, Economics, Sciences – organised into 8 Departments. In 2012 Ca' Foscari created the International College, a school of excellence for the best students. It also holds high positions in the QS rankings regarding the Language, Linguistics and Ancient History fields.

Starting from a.y. 2022/23 Digital Humanities courses will also be available to incoming students.

GRADING SYSTEM

What is an ECTS?

The European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) is a university credit transfer system based on the transparency of students' plan of study and the assignment of university credits for the relevant workload. Its aim is to guarantee the recognition of the exams that the students take in their international mobility periods, thanks to a clear and effective system which is commonly used across all institutions in Europe.

Ca' Foscari University, in agreement with the principles that rule the ECTS system, has recognised the equivalence 1 CFU = 1 ECTS (Academic Senate, deliberation no. 45, February 14th, 2006).

As per the ECTS - User's Guide, the universities that participate in ECTS are to adopt a new system for the conversion of grades that students achieve during an international mobility period. The new system is based on the percentage distribution of grades, according to groups of homogeneous degree programmes (classi di laurea). In the transition from one system to the other, the traditional system (A, B, C, D, E) has been rearranged into groups of degree programmes (classi di laurea). A table for the conversion of grades has been created with reference to the percentage distribution of grades of the last two academic years. The instructions for the conversion of grades with the new system are available in the download section of this webpage.

The full study load for one semester is usually 30 ECTS.

Grading system in Italy

The Italian grading system works on a scale from 18 to

30. 18 is the lowest passing grade (sufficiency). 30L is the highest grade (30 cum laude).

Only if you pass the exam of a course will you obtain the relevant credits. Exams usually give 6 or 12 credits (ECTS/CFU). Only the exams that are specified in the Learning Agreement will be then be reported on the Transcript of Records.

ITALIAN LANGUAGE AND CULTURE COURSES AT SIE (School for International Education)

In the field of languages, Italian is becoming increasingly requested by international students and by those with a passion for Italian culture and history. The School organises Italian language for non-native speakers as well as courses in Italian and Venetian culture, history, art and literature all year round.

The School offers Italian language courses that are specifically designed for international exchange students spending a study period at Ca' Foscari University.

The eligible students for these courses are Erasmus + exchange students, Overseas students and other interuniversity exchange students. Double and Joint degree students will be admitted according to the provisions of each project – please contact the School for more information

As an alternative, the School also offers Standard Italian courses held by highly qualified native speakers and offer students the possibility to acquire all skills in order to reach mastery of the Italian language according to the desired level. The courses cover all levels, from A1 to C2 of the CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages)
